

This document is made by me, Rob Wolfram, as a preparation to the private prayer experiment with Peter Pellerin. He and any other person who wants to participate along can pray that God will reveal himself to me according to my request outlined here. This document will be published up front in an encrypted format and will be published unencrypted along with the encryption key to the encrypted version at the end of the experiment. If the following happens, I will consider it a clear revelation by God to me.

I want a person to comment on this prayer experiment. This person should be a fellow student of mine at the "Dr. J.C. De Miranda College" high school in Paramaribo and a student that I knew when I attended the school but who has not had contact with me since I left Suriname in August 1990. The comment should be made at my blog page at <http://www.biblesupport.com>, either the blog regarding the argument from morality or a blog made specifically for this purpose. In his or her comment he or she should be surprised that I openly declare myself to be an atheist. He or she should remember me from high school as someone interested in religion and expect me to either be religious or spiritual. The comment should be made any day starting from the day that the encrypted version of this document is published unto at most the day before the unencrypted version of this document and the key to the encrypted version are published.

During the experiment I will pray daily for this to happen. If it does, I will consider it clear evidence of God's existence, enough for me to believe and proclaim that he exists.

This document has been written by Rob Wolfram (posting at <http://www.biblesupport.com> as user "Atheist Rob") in Lelystad, the Netherlands on Friday September 14th 2012.